

ACI Financial Markets Forum 2007 Fit for Future Leadership

November 1 – 4, 2007 · Davos Congress Centre, Switzerland

On behalf of ACI, the Financial Markets Association, we are pleased to invite you to participate in the second ACI Financial Markets Forum – Fit for Future Leadership - from November 1 to 4, 2007, in Davos, Switzerland.

The target audience for this seminar is senior financial market professionals who are currently active and have at least five years experience in the market.

The seminar is organised by ACI's German Language Group and comprises key presentations by top speakers from the world of politics, economics and science. Break-out group discussions will give you further opportunities to exchange knowledge, experience and ideas relating to business and leadership issues.

We invite you to seize this opportunity to meet with peers and invited experts for a highly stimulating and rewarding event at which we will provide a dedicated platform to network, learn, and generate new ideas. Leadership is one of the key challenges faced by business today and this ACI seminar will assist you in developing ideas and strategies to meet this challenge.

The event fee of EUR 2'900.- covers the seminar, three overnight stays, including conference meals.

Please mark November 1 – 4, 2007 in your diary today. Further details will be circulated shortly. To receive priority information and secure your personal invitation, please contact: secretariat@acisuisse.ch.

Yours sincerely
